F. A. PLUMB, DUDLEY RANDALL, EDITORS.
EMPORIA, KANSAS:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1859.

Reader, We wish You a Happy New Year!

As our pen changes from 1859 to 1860, we cannot but pause a moment and reflect that another year has flown—that one more thread in the cord of our life-span has snapped, leaving a broken fragment in our hand. We review the past—a year of pleasures and joys, of griefs and sorrows. All have felt the ever-varying vicissitudes of life, though not all alike. To some the past has been a record of sorrow—for those who, since the last "Happy New Year" was spoken, have been shipwrecked on the voyage of life, and to-morrow will spend a "Happy New Year" in Heaven. May such experience one year of joy—undimmed by a single cloud. Let us all make new resolves, and commence the New Year with a prayerful hope that we will outlive our faults, and do better.

But the Old Year has gone, and the New is just opening—not a single leaf of which has yet been turned. May we keep the next volume of our ledger above without blot or error.

Congress.
At last accounts no Speaker had been elected by the House—Sherman standing, on the last ballot, 111. Probably by our next we shall have news that Sherman is elected, and then there will be something done besides rambling colloquial discourses and political harrangues.

Judge A. I. Baker, through the American Sentinel of last week, makes a series of malignant and untruthful charges against the "epubliкан party" of Kansas for acts committed three years ago, which we will take occasion to reply to at some future time, when we will endeavor to state facts, and show who were the "John Browns" of those days.

STATE ELECTION.—Thirty counties heard from, give the Republican ticket 2454 majority. Parrott's majority in the same counties was 2365. But two counties—Shawnee and Douglas—gave larger Republican majorities than Breckenridge.

We are sorry to see that the editor of the Bates County (Mo.) Standard is trying to attach a stigma upon the character of Mr. Augustus Wattles, Secretary of the Jefferson City and Neosho Valley Railroad, on the ground that he is an abolitionist, and by that means prejudicing the people of Western Missouri against that road. The editor of the Standard, with that "oneidea" view which characterizes a slaveholder, is afraid the institution is in danger, and warns slaveholders to be on their guard.

NOT KILLED.—The Council Grove Press, of last week, says that Mr. A. L. Scribner, who was reported killed by the Indians three or four weeks since, has turned up safe and sound on the Little Arkansas. There is no doubt but that the Kaws killed young Perrell.

The Territorial Legislature convenes on Monday, January 2d. The session will probably be held at Lawrence.

The Burlington Register, of last week, puts down Learnard's majority over Watson, for Judge, at 34. We think that is a little doubtful.

Wood, of the Council Grove Press, in his last week's paper says:
"We proposed last week to take hogs, corn, butter, eggs, wood, &c., in payment of subscriptions and advertising. The result was, we got one load of wood. We now propose to take wolf-pelts, buffalo-chips, and old cast-off clothing."
The success of this last proposition is apparent, from the fact that Wood wore an old coat at the party last Monday night.

The New York Tribune.
It is unnecessary for us to speak in praise of the Tribune—it is known and coveted by every Republican in the land. The campaign of 1860 has now opened. We hope our friends will see that new clubs are got up and old ones increased at every post office in this part of the country. See prospectus and terms in The News.

Horrible Murder in Woodson County.
The Burlington Register gives an account of the shocking brutality of a band of unknown assassins who entered the house of Mr. John Coleman, on Owl Creek, about eleven miles from Neosho Falls, on the night of the 13th inst., and robbed his house of everything valuable belonging to himself and family—even their clothing—and afterwards took Mr. C. away from his house a short distance and murdered him in cold blood. The gang numbered six, and as yet no clue to their identity or purpose has been found out.

Two children were bitten by a mad dog a few days since, near Atchison, one of whom will probably die.

VOL. 3—No. 21. EMPORIA, KANSAS, DECEMBER 31, 1859. WHOLE No. 125.

Council Grove.

We anticipated a pleasant time at the Grove last Monday night, and were not disappointed. Our readers will remember that the Gilkey House was to be opened on that night with a supper and ball, to which we and the rest of the country were "respectfully invited." We went with our "best rig," accompanied by seven or eight couples from Emporia—the number increasing to twelve on reaching Americus, where we all took dinner at Hill's Hotel. At half-past one, the "train" got fixed up for a start, and, at the word, away we went. The road isn't as smooth as it might be for a mile or two beyond there, as we well remember; and as there were faster horses and stronger buggies than ours, we kindly let them go ahead—the result of which was that we had a pleasant ride the rest of the way "all by ourselves." Mr. Gilkey welcomed us with extended hand at about five o'clock, and led us into a house crowded with the beauty and fashion of thirty miles around. After a splendid supper the dance commenced. Forty-six numbers were called, and the evening's amusement was soon in the height of its glory. The company was considerably "mixed" in its character, as is usual at such gatherings "out West." But nevertheless, we recognized many talented and accomplished gentlemen and ladies present who would have done honor to any society. There was S. N. Wood, who holds half the offices of honor and profit in this part of the Territory, besides a printing office, and two or three town-sites, and who wanted to trade coats with us so he could dance. We afterwards saw him "go through the motions." Among the first on the floor was our talented friend S. L. Kenyon, County Attorney, and author of the able and brilliant articles that have lately appeared in the American Sentinel. A tall, fine looking man, with black mustachios and a military air, was Col. Dickey, of Topeka. There were a number of other distinguished gentlemen present whom we will not here bring into notice. The lady portion of the assemblage was the "best looking" that we have seen collected together at any party in Kansas. This made the dance a most recherché affair. The supper, at 11, was magnificent, comprising all the fine things that culinary art could devise.

The whole affair, as we said, was a pleasant one, and we have no doubt was enjoyed to a fuller extent by a larger proportion of those present than at any previous one of the kind in this portion of the Territory.

Wool Raising.
The New York Tribune, of a late date, makes mention of the fact that "there is a continued, steady feeling in favor of making Texas one of the greatest wool-producing States in the Union," and states that blooded rams are being shipped to that State from New Jersey for the purpose of improving the stock.

Wool-growing has become a very profitable business, and is as sure as profitable. Wool pays for transportation much better than any grain, and the demand is also constant, and even increasing. Its production is attended with but little risk. A small amount of capital can be profitably employed in this way, and the stock, with proper care, will steadily increase.

Kansas possesses all the advantages of Texas for the profitable production of wool, as well as some not possessed by the former State. The advantage of climate in Kansas is no inconsiderable one.

We should much like to see more sheep in Kansas—more attention paid to wool-growing. It can be made a source of great wealth to the country, and will be a source of income when all kinds of grain will be a drug in the market. With the production of wool here in large quantities will come the demand for factories to convert it into fabrics; and we are confident that as soon as the growth of wool will justify, woolen factories will be erected in our midst. Let our farmers think of these things.

Free Speech at the National Capital.

Congress has exclusive jurisdiction in the District of Columbia, which is the common property of the whole Union. Virginia and South Carolina may pass laws for the suppression of free speech and a free press, but the Constitution of the United States provides in its very first section that "Congress shall make no law abridging the Freedom of Speech!" Nothing clearer than that. And yet we find that a few days since a peaceable, unoffending Quaker, a resident of Washington City, was arrested there for having spoken in private conversation with two "pro-slavery men words" derogatory of the right of men of one color to own those of another. After a trial before two justices he was bound over in the sum of $2000 to keep the peace for one year. Things have come to a pretty pass indeed, in a free Government, when a man may not express his opinion that slavery is wrong—and that too under the very shadow of the National Capitol. Of course pro-slaveryites will say that such an expression was calculated to "destroy rights of property," etc. But we hold that FREE SPEECH is worth more than all the property in existence. Without it the enjoyment of the "right of property" would be seriously diminished. Men are daily driven out of the Southern States because they do not subscribe to the "divinity" of the "peculiar institution." Let them imitate Austria if they will, within their own limits—but they are asking too much when they try to supplant the Constitution at the National Capital and substitute plantation rule in its stead. There has been far too much of this already. We hope that all future attempts of this kind will be met in a proper spirit of determination. Once gag discussion, and we cease to be a Republic and become a Despotism.

Mail Robbery.

The Attorney General of Virginia has written and published a letter in which he very gravely counsels the robbery of the U. S. Mails by Virginia officials! He argues that although the Federal government carries the mails, that the moment they arrive at their destination the Federal power ceases, and that of the State begins—that the State has a perfect right to stop in and take possession of the letters and papers the moment they are deposited in the Post Office—purposely overlooking the fact that the Post Office Department is under the exclusive control of the Federal authority—that the Postmasters are responsible to that power alone for malfeasance or misconduct in office. Of what advantage would the carrying of mails be, indeed, if the Postmaster was not obliged to deliver papers and letters to the persons to whom they were addressed—if he might turn them out in the street as soon as received? This won't work. There is the same obligation to deliver mail matter to the persons to whom it is addressed as there is to convey it to its destination. But the Attorney General of Virginia says that the people of that State have a right to prevent the circulation of "incendiary documents" in their midst, and to this end Postmasters are required to give up all such documents to the Justices of the Peace, who shall burn them. We all know what is meant by "incendiary documents." The News is an "incendiary document" within the meaning of the Virginia statute—so is the Western Christian Advocate, and all other papers that hold slavery to be wrong, and oppose its extension.

The Postmaster has no right to know anything of the character of matter passing through his hands. If he meddles with letters or papers belonging to other persons, he is liable to punishment. He has no right to unfold a paper that comes to his office without a wrapper. And if he had he has no right to refuse to deliver it to the person to whom it is directed.

We have several subscribers for The News in Virginia, as well as in most of the Southern States, and we may expect to hear any time that they have been arrested and put in jail for aiding in the circulation of "incendiary documents." Under such a state of things, what FREEMAN could fail to think that slavery was a baneful institution, and wish that it might not be extended?

Stock Law Meeting.

Pursuant to a notice in The News, a large number of the citizens of this township met here to-day for the purpose of investigating the merits and demerits of a Stock Law. Dr. G. A. Cutler was chosen chairman, and Wm. S. Cook secretary. Joseph M. Miller, of Dow Creek, then offered the resolution—"Resolved, that a law prohibiting all live stock from running at large would enhance the prosperity of Kansas Territory." After a long and spirited discussion, a vote was called for on the resolution, which resulted in a majority of nays.

The Emporia News.

With some degree of pride, the following flattering notices which The News and its editors have received from the western press since the change which was made about three months since:

The Emporia News—This most excellent paper has passed into the hands of P. B. Plumb and Dudley Randall. Mr. Plumb is already well known as one of the most prominent and promising young men of Kansas. Mr. Randall has been connected with this office for nearly a year past. Besides being a No. 1 printer, he is an easy and ready writer, a candid and honorable politician, unsufling for the right, and a manly advocate of what he conceives to be the best interests of all. We congratulate Emporia upon her acquisition of so useful a citizen, and being peculiarly interested in the welfare of that section, her best interests will be advanced by a liberal support of the new proprietors. They will not fail to make the News what it ever has been—one of the very best papers in the Territory. Western Metropolis.

CHANGE—Mr. Dudley Randall has become connected with the Emporia News, in connection with its first editor, P. B. Plumb. Mr. Stotler retiring, Mr. R. was for some time connected with the Metropolitan, of this city, as superintendent of its job department. He is a good printer and a ready writer. The News has always been one of the best local papers in the Territory, and we get more news from it than any paper published in Kansas. Kansas City Journal of Commerce.

The News has recently changed hands, and is now conducted by P. B. Plumb, its first proprietor, and D. Randall, an "old hand at the bellows." The News is the oldest paper in the Neosho Valley, and has always maintained a good reputation for vigor and ability, and it will be sure to retain that character under the new regime. Good luck to you, boys! Neosho Valley Register.

THE EMPORIA NEWS—The gallant editor of this sterling sheet—P. B. Plumb—is at present in the city. Mr. Plumb wields a potent pen for the right, and his paper is a "power" in Southern Kansas. These of our merchants who desire to secure trade in Southern Kansas, would greatly consult their interests by advertising in the Emporia News, which may well be classed among the ablest and most useful. Mr. Plumb and Dudley Randall have bought the Emporia News. Mr. Plumb established the News, and conducted it for nearly two years with marked ability and success. We are glad to know that it will maintain its position as one of the leading Republican papers of Kansas. Lawrence Republican.

ON CHANGE—The Emporia News has been sold to P. B. Plumb and Dudley Randall, who will in future conduct that paper. P. B. Plumb is already well and favorably known to the Kansas newspaper world. Wyandott Argus.

CHANGED HANDS—The Emporia News has been transferred from the hands of J. Stotler, to P. B. Plumb and Dudley Randall. The new editors get out a good paper, soundly Republican, and we wish them great success. Lawrence Register.

A CHANGE—The Emporia News has been transferred from the hands of J. Stotler to P. B. Plumb, and Dudley Randall. The editors issue a good paper, Republican in politics. We wish them success. Topeka Tribune.

P. B. Plumb (former editor) and Dudley Randall, have taken charge of the Emporia News. It comes out right sprightly with its new Duds. White Cloud Chief.

Helper's Book.

Helper's "Impending Crisis," which has caused such a tantrum among the pro-slavery members of both houses of Congress recently, is thus spoken of by the New York Tribune:
Mr. Helper's work is the earnest, impassioned appeal of one of the non-slaveholding Whites of the South to his own class and kin to rid themselves and their country of the curse, the nightmare of Slavery. It is based on an unimpeachable array of facts and figures, mainly compiled from the last United States Census, proving that Slavery has blighted the South in her industry, her wealth, her education, and every other element of social and moral well-being. It is as impressive as the Multiplication Table, and must carry conviction to the mind of every rational, unprejudiced reader. There is not a page of it, so far as we can recollect, that is addressed to slaves or to negroes of any condition. It is an appeal to Free Whites—to Legal Voters—urging them to use their rightful power to free themselves from the blight of Slavery.

The Kansas City Metropolitan, an outspoken free labor paper, speaks as follows of the "winding up" of the Virginia Invasion:

"The 'last hours' of Virginia's propriety and good sense has cost her not only one hundred thousand dollars, but it has cost her the respect and good opinion of the country. It has cost her the prestige that attached to her as the Mother of States and Presidents. It has cost her the good name of her people for high and noble chivalry and undaunted bravery. She made a fool of herself for political effect, and now she is the laughing stock of the wide world."

Hon. John C. Breckenridge has been elected United States Senator from Kentucky, in place of John J. Crittenden, whose term of office expires March 4th, 1861.

The Post Office Department has ordered a million more of the self-ruling stamped envelopes of an improved pattern. It is determined to give them a fair trial.

The St. Joseph and Atchison Railroad will be completed by the 20th day of January next.

ENLARGED.—The Kansas City Daily Journal of Commerce has recently been enlarged to an eight column paper—making it the largest daily with one exception, we believe, west of the Mississippi, outside of St. Louis. The Journal is an able, spirited Democratic paper, and is as truly wedded to the interests of Kansas City as a father to his family.

The Topeka mail, of last Wednesday, brought us three Burlington Registers and a quantity of other papers from that direction, which ought to have come up the Neosho some time ago. We have but one regular, reliable mail now, and that is a weekly one from Lawrence. We are in hopes that something will be done for us in this matter this winter.

LOCAL.

Wood, and all kinds of farm produce, will be taken on subscription to The Emporia News.

OPENING OF THE SCHOOLS.—By our advertising columns it will be seen that both schools re-open next Monday—Mr. Tripp's in McElfresh's Hall, and Messrs. Phillips & Thompson's at the Church. We hope to see every scholar in this neighborhood in attendance the next quarter.

An Anti-tax meeting was held to day at Mickel's Hotel in Waterloo township. The people are waking up on the subject of enormous taxes.

The Stock Law discussion will take place at Kirkendall's School House, in Cottonwood township, on Saturday the 7th of January, at 1 o'clock P. M. All are invited to attend.

CUTLASS PARTY.—Another social dance comes off at the Emporia House next Monday night, to which all are invited. Tickets, $1.

As the wants of this region are fast increasing, and persons are frequently inquiring after locations for different kinds of business at this place, we would state that, among other wants we need a tannery and a soap and candle manufactory. Any one with the capital and experience, would make a profitable realization from either by starting early next spring.

A terrific fire swept over the prairie between the Cottonwood and Neosho, east of this place, on Friday last, which destroyed considerable property. The Myers Brothers lost seven hundred bushels of corn, besides a quantity of hay and other farm produce.

Last Saturday was the busiest day that Emporia has witnessed for three months or more. Towards noon Commercial street was filled with teams, some from a great distance. Every store and shop was crowded with customers. Proctor & Co. sold nearly $250 worth of goods, and others no doubt did as well in proportion. In the afternoon a large crowd gathered at the church to attend the anti-tax meeting, and in the evening several horse-races came off on the road leading to the Cottonwood. The few pleasant days at the close of last week and fore part of this, seemed to wake up things generally.

FURNITURE MAKING.—Mr. John Suttle and Sen have opened a furniture shop in McElfresh's building, where they will manufacture and keep on hand such articles in their line as are needed for this part of the country. Give them a call.

There ought to be some means taken to prevent everybody from watering their stock at the lower well, particularly when there is not enough water to supply the families who have to go there for it. If the present state of things continue, we expect to see that well made a stock-walking place of entirely before long.

WHERE IS A MAN DUNK?—This question has been decided at our county-seat to be, when he "sinks" with his boots on, and gets into bed cross-wise.

LAWRENCE FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP.—See advertisement of this establishment in The News. Messrs. Kimball Brothers can manufacture in the best of style any article which they advertise.

A "FAMILY JAR."—There lives in the vicinity of this place a partly, good-natured man whom we will call Jenny, and who is blessed with a "better half" of somewhat larger proportions than himself. The twain occupy a house that has one peculiarity in its construction, namely, a trap-door in the floor letting down into a cellar. One cold day last week, Jenny went out after an armful of wood, and his forehead "better half" lifted the trap-door and descended into the cellar after some vegetables for dinner. In due course of time Jenny returned, and deposited his load of wood, and himself too—not before the fire, but down the wicked trap-door, into the cellar. There was "sorrow in that house" for a time, but we are gratified to state that no serious damage resulted from this upset.
